“Wilgard® Guard Rail discourages careless behavior around equipment and it looks very professional. I'm glad we installed it.”

Ron Harris
VP of Real Estate, Construction and Facilities for Young Living Essential Oils

Wildeck's Wilgard® Guard Rail protects Young Living's conveyor equipment, keeping the facility fully operational.

Young Living Essential Oils (headquartered in Lehi, Utah) decided to extend the life of their original facility through the installation of a Wildeck mezzanine. However, their renovation journey did not stop there. In contemplating ways to increase the safety and efficiency of their warehouse, Young Living saw an opportunity to install Wildeck's Wilgard® Guard Rail at several strategic locations throughout the building.

Painted safety yellow to provide a highly visible physical barrier, Wildeck's Wilgard® would play a pivotal role in protecting the company's investments in both people and equipment. For instance, Wilgard® installed around Young Living's conveyor equipment would absorb the impact of any potential forklift collisions, keeping the facility fully operational. Additionally, Wilgard® installed along the perimeter of the warehouse's rack and shelving units created defined traffic lanes for pedestrian and forklift traffic. This strategic application of Wildeck's Wilgard® increased the company's safety and efficiency.

Wildeck's Wilgard® is available in three levels of impact resistance (XTra Tough, Medium Toughness and Lighter Toughness) and offers a wider range of impact resistance than any other U.S. manufacture. Wildeck is proud to have helped Young Living achieve their safety goals.
