“Wildeck’s mezzanines help route the miles of conveyors that move a wide range of products from picking to packing stations.”

Ken Mater
President, Matco Distributors, Inc.

Wildeck’s mezzanines were capable of safely supporting the weight of CDW’s products and conveyor equipment.

When CDW decided to open a new distribution center in North Las Vegas to better serve their customers throughout the western United States, they knew that selecting and working closely with experienced material handling suppliers was paramount for continued growth and success. Selected suppliers would need to be able to deliver their equipment on time and ensure that it was installed correctly. In reviewing their potential suppliers, CDW decided to partner with Matco Distributors, Inc., a trusted supplier of Wildeck material handling solutions, for their mezzanine needs.

The original footprint of CDW’s new facility totaled 513,000 square feet. However, in contemplating how to best route the miles of conveyor equipment that enabled 60,000 outbound cases of IT products to be processed and shipped daily, it was decided that two custom designed, multilevel Wildeck mezzanines were needed. Once installed, the Wildeck mezzanines added more than 178,000 square feet of additional usable space.

The heavy-duty construction of Wildeck’s mezzanines were capable of safely supporting the weight of CDW’s products and conveyor equipment, helping the company achieve their expansion goals.
