How Does Open Sky Group Help Clients Get More?

With the power of Open Sky Group's proprietary methodology and no-modifications approach, we help clients get the most from their supply chain technology investment.

Templatized Approach

- Challenging the traditional approach to software implementation, Open Sky Group has pioneered its own templated method that includes pre-built configurations and integrations and strongly discourages modifications, which means less risk and lower costs for your company because the software isn't being modified.

Experienced Experts

- With an average of 15 years of experience in supply chain execution systems (WMS, TMS, Labor, etc.) – it stands to reason that we also have a top-notch methodology to get projects done efficiently. More importantly, we constantly revisit our approach to find ways to be faster and more efficient.

Strong Relationships

- Open Sky Group maintains an excellent relationship with Blue Yonder which means you benefit from that collaboration continually throughout the life of your project and beyond.
